

Prometeia scores highly for completeness of offering on Chartis' FinTech Quadrant™ for BSM solutions

April 2018

Chartis Research, the leading provider of research and analysis on the global market for risk technology, has included Prometeia in its latest FinTech Quadrant™ for Balance Sheet Management solutions.

Of the RiskTech providers assessed in the report, Prometeia is ranked as one of those with the highest score in terms of completeness of offering. The criteria for this assessment include capabilities and breadth of optimization engine, scenario management systems (for stress testing, macroeconomic analytics, interest income forecasting), analytical support for different financial instruments, modelling for balance sheet management (liability-side modelling, behavioural characteristic modelling), data provision, transaction data aggregation and linkage to neighbouring systems.

“Satisfying the analytical needs of multiple departments - such as Planning, Treasury and Risk Management – through one integrated methodological framework is at the centre of our business mission. No other provider in the market is able to supply a fully integrated platform that meets the highest standards in ALM, Liquidity and Credit Risk management at the same time. This explains the remarkable success of our holistic Balance Sheet Management solutions” comments Andrea Partesotti, Head of Enterprise Risk Management Area at Prometeia.
